[1] 次の英文を読み、あとの設問に答えなさい。

On April 15th, 1452, in a small town in Italy, a baby boy was born. He was named Leonardo. Because the town he came from was called Vinci, he was (① know) as Leonardo da Vinci. That means Leonardo from Vinci.

The man (②) showed interest in him was an uncle. His name was Francesco. He was a farmer and loved the beautiful countryside around Vinci. He took long walks over hills and they were covered (③) many trees. Leonardo went with him. He loved the natural world. When he went out, Leonardo always took a little notebook with him. He made pictures of anything that interested him. He drew many things, for example plants, insects and animals. Paper was very expensive, but Leonardo was lucky. ④ He had enough paper because of his father's business.

Even when he was a young boy, Leonardo was good (⑤) drawing. His rabbits and birds didn't look like pictures. They looked alive. He understood the beauty of nature. He also knew its dangers. When he was only four years old, a terrible hurricane hit the countryside. Farms were destroyed, and many people were killed. Then when he was ten, the Arno River flooded Florence. Leonardo watched the storm and the floods. He never forgot them. ⑥ All his life, he drew pictures of moving water.

At that time, there were a lot of artists around Leonardo. He was so talented that he could draw and paint better than anyone. One of his paintings, the Mona Lisa, is 【 world / painting / famous / the / the / most / in 】. ⑦ He was also a scientist, an engineer and inventor. He designed a bike three hundred years before the first bike was built. "I want to work miracles," he said. But he often failed. He didn't have many friends and had no family of his own. For sixteen years, he didn't even have a home.

On May 2nd, 1519, he died. He never reached the goals he set for himself. Though some of his paintings were not finished, the things he did in (⑧) years were great. It is hard to believe someone could do better.
